Coming in 2022!

Tired of being perceived as a mature adult? Eager to shed your professional image? Heather E. Schwartz is here to help!

How to Be Ridiculous: 28 Tips for a Brand-New You will help you harness your unique weirdness, lean into your love of Cold War hockey, and handle systemic misogyny with newfound confidence. Try every trick in the book, or just the ones that match your personal needs. It's your journey, and it's all up to you.

So… how ridiculous do you want to be?

About the Author
Comedy writer and performer Heather E. Schwartz has written for Disney, Scholastic, National Geographic, Sesame Street, Time for Kids, NASA, the Smithsonian, and more. A former entertainment reporter, she satirizes celebrity culture on her website, Quiet Girl Comedy, and has published humor on the Erma Bombeck Writers' Workshop blog and Little Old Lady Comedy. She voices an animated character on a YouTube series and performs regularly at The Mopco Improv Theatre, in upstate New York.
